The Sutter Health corporate headquarters was built as a joint venture with the California Farm Bureau Federation as part of a master-planned office park that includes 335,000 square feet of space. The company's corporate offices in Sacramento, California provide administrative, legal, financial and clinical staff assistance to their non-profit network of hospitals, long-term care centers, physicians, medical foundation, research institutes and cancer centers. (Sutter Health is one of the nation's largest not-for-profit healthcare systems.)

The office park is a low-density development that has walking trails, oak trees and a heavily forested area, including a bike path adjacent to the Sacramento River that connects to River Plaza Drive.
